

Lead Significant Impact Determination

A significant impact level has not been defined for lead. If the projected emissions due to the construction of a new source or modification exceed the de minimis emission rate of 0.6 tons per year, cumulative air quality assessment demonstrating compliance with the National Ambient Air Quality Standards for lead will be required.