Online, Computer Based & Correspondence Training for Operator Certification Renewal Hours

Online, correspondence and computer based courses are available from many providers. Some of the courses offered by the following providers may have been previously approved.

You must contact the Missouri Department of Natural Resources, Operator Certification Section to confirm if a course had been previously approved and to verify if training hours will be assigned.

Special Note: You may need to have a working printer connected to your computer for online and computer based training. Some courses allow you to print a certification of completion at the end of the course; others may mail it to you. Obtaining proof of completion is very important. Without it, you will not be awarded training hours.
