DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Thomas J. Sappington House, 1015 South Sappington Road, Crestwood, Missouri, is a rectangular-plan, five-room, Federal-style residence. A one-story wing is attached along the south facade of the main two-story portion of the house.

EXTERIOROver-all dimensions

The house measures 20' 4" on the north and south facades and 46' 8" on the east and west facades.

Construction materials and colors

Stone is used for the foundations and entrance thresholds. Red brick, laid in Flemish bond on the main, east facade and common bond on the remaining facades, faces all exterior walls. Window sills, frames, and sash; doors and doorway frames; and cornices and eave trim are of wood painted white.

Openings

Windows. Double-hung sash windows are on the east and west facades. They are nine-over-six light sash on the main portion of the house and six-over-six light sash on the south wing. Each has a slipsill and a jack-arched lintel of brick stretchers.

There are also four, rectangular-shaped attic windows. Located one to either side of the chimneys on the main portion of the house, these windows have four lights, a slipsill, and a lintel of brick headers.

Doorways. There are four entrances: one each on the east and west facades and two on the south facade. Each is filled by a single leaf door.

The main entrances (currently not in use) are centrally-located on the main portion, first story, west and east facades. Each is filled by identical, eight-panel doors and four-light, rectangular-shaped transoms. A jack-arched lintel of brick stretchers trims each entrance opening.

Entry into the Sappington House is gained through a third entrance located at the easternmost end of the south wing's southern facade, first story. The entrance is filled by a board and batten door and topped by a jack-arched lintel identical to those on the main entrances. Several steps lead up to the doorway.

A fourth entrance (not original) is at the western end of the south facade, south wing. It leads to the basement.

Chimneys

There are three chimneys. Centrally-located on the north and south facades of the main portion of the house and the south facade of the south wing, each has a single stack and is trimmed by a projected, two-course molding positioned two courses below the upper edge. All are attached to the wall with the exception of the south chimney, main portion, which is flush with the wall surface.

Roof

Shingled, medium-pitched gable roofs cover the two portions of the house. Their center ridges run parallel to the east and west facades.

Decorative details

Decorative features include: 1) the brick lintels (already mentioned); 2) a boxed cornice with plain freize (located on the east and west facades of the main portion of the house and the south wing); and 3) the wood eave verges which taper slightly towards the ridge of the gable roofs.

INTERIOR

Basement

A partial basement (not original) is located under the south wing. It contains the heating and cooling units and bathroom facilities.

First floor

Three rooms comprise the first floor: a kitchen (the entire south wing), a dining room (the southernmost third of the main portion of the house), and a parlor (the northernmost two-thirds of the main portion).

Plaster walls painted off-white occur throughout. Random-width floor boards painted gray (not original) are laid parallel to the east and west walls. Wood baseboards, chair rails, and window frames in classic designs occur in all rooms. These features are painted to match the walls or in contrasting greens or blues. Each room has a fireplace. The mantels (original in all rooms but the kitchen) are a country interpretation of Adamesque designs. Venetian blinds (appropriate to the period) are at each window. Each room is furnished with furniture typical of the Federal period in the St. Louis area.

A stairway allowing access to the second floor is in the northwest corner of the dining room. It is L-shaped and partially enclosed.

Second floor

The second floor is partitioned into two bedrooms of the same dimensions as the first floor rooms directly below. The stairway, which runs along the west wall of the child's room, is open at this level and has a banister of simple design. All flooring and fireplace mantels are original on this floor. The finishing of this floor is similar to that of the first floor.

Attic

Access to the unfinished attic is by an enclosed stairway located in the southwest corner of the master (north) bedroom.

ALTERATIONS

The only major alterations have been the additions of a south wing (ca. 1815)<sup>1</sup> and a partial basement during the 1965-66 restoration program. The main portion of the house, built in 1808, is unaltered.

CONDITION

The Sappington House is in excellent condition, having been restored to its original appearance in 1965-66.

SITE

The Sappington House, which faces east, is the focal point of a 2.2-acre city park in Crestwood, Missouri. A formal garden, enclosed by a picket fence, borders the house on the north and west. Several outbuildings (not original) are to the southwest of the house. The resident manager's residence and public restrooms are south of the house, constructed on the site of the original, separate kitchen.

Other park features include: a pond (not original) at the south end, a tea room/gift shop (constructed 1969) in the northwest corner, and a parking lot along the northern boundary.

The park is surrounded by: 1) an elementary school on the east; 2) a one-story factory on the west; 3) a residential area to the south; and 4) a spur line of the Missouri Pacific Railroad on the north. South Sappington Road parallels the east boundary.

PRESENT STATUS

The house's continued existence is assured. It is being preserved as a historic house museum open to the public.

Several proposed developmental projects to occur on adjoining properties could feasibly affect the house. These include:

- 1) the widening of South Sappington Road from a two-lane to four-lane road (currently in the early stages of construction).

- 2) the construction of a high intensity power line along the Missouri Pacific Railroad spur line right-of-way (still in the planning stages, power company is applying for conditional use permits).

Of these two projects, the later appears to be causing the greatest alarm. Opponents of the power line fear that its construction will jeopardize the house's continued existence and the integrity of its environment.<sup>2</sup>

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Thomas J. Sappington House, 1015 South Sappington Road, Crestwood, Missouri, is significant as a prime, early example of the Federal style of architecture in St. Louis County. The house is unique in that it has survived in a relatively unaltered condition.<sup>1</sup> Serving as the home of one of St. Louis County's early pioneer families, it is one of the oldest brick structures surviving in the county.<sup>2</sup>

Previous owners

A chronology of previous ownership includes:

- 1) Thomas Sappington -- 1808-09 to 1860
- 2) Thomas Sappington's minor children by his second marriage -- 1860 to 1875
- 3) Marshall Sappington (Thomas Sappington's son) -- 1875 to 1877
- 4) Various members of the Wingate family (?) -- 1877 to 1881
- 5) Susan A. Rose -- 1881 to 1884
- 6) Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nickel -- 1884 to ?
- 7) Picraux family (Mrs. Picraux daughter of the Robert Nickels') -- ? to 1959.<sup>3</sup>

Of these numerous owners, the builder, Thomas Sappington, is the most prominent. He was born on January 22, 1783, in Ohio County, Virginia, the second child of John Sappington and Jemima Fowler.<sup>4</sup> Sappington married Mary Ann Kinkade (Kinkead) on October 27, 1808.<sup>5</sup> (This was the first recorded wedding in St. Louis County after the purchase of the Louisiana Territory in 1803.)<sup>6</sup> A year after his wife's death, Sappington married Elizabeth Houser (January 12, 1843).<sup>7</sup> Thomas Sappington died on May 15, 1860.<sup>8</sup>

Sappington was a noted pioneer of St. Louis County, Missouri. He came to the county from his native Virginia by way of Lexington, Kentucky, in 1804.<sup>9</sup> He served as a 1st Lieutenant under General (later Missouri governor) Alexander McNair (1st Battalion, 3rd Company) during the War of 1812.<sup>10</sup>

The survey of Missouri's historic sites is based on the selection of sites as they relate to theme studies in Missouri history as outlined in Missouri's "Comprehensive Statewide Preliminary Preservation Plan." The
