ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.

This building is located in an older, residential neighborhood characterized by an abundance of apartment buildings, east of the Southeast Missouri State University campus and the United States Post Office. The building is situated on a long, narrow lot and faces north on Bellevue Street. A gravel alley runs between Bellevue and Broadway directly east of the building and provides access from Bellevue Street to a small, gravel parking lot behind the building.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.

This three-story, U-shaped apartment complex is constructed in brick on a concrete foundation and has colonial revival elements to its design. The low hipped roof with wide, overhanging eaves is covered in sheet metal and has four dormers, one facing each elevation. A wide, pressed metal cornice dominates the roofline of the façade. The façade has five bays, with the original front door with sidelights and transom in the center flanked by two protruding, three-level screened-in porches. The condition of the porches is hard to determine, due to thick vines growing all over the façade. The majority of the windows are vinyl one-over-one double-hung, sash windows, appearing to have been replaced at some point. The rear of the building has wooden stairs with decks on each level.

38. (cont.) History and significance.

According to tax records, this building is the oldest apartment building in Cape Girardeau that was specifically built for that purpose.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

Building is situated near Southeast Missouri State University and downtown Cape Girardeau, MO. The garage was built with a concrete foundation, aluminum walls and a gable roof made of sheet metal. Garage was built in the 1960s, is 3 bays wide, is attached to the main building by a wall extension, and sits hidden immediately beside the apartment complex creating a cement courtyard with 426 Bellevue.

Two story apartment building clad in blond brick with red brick quoining on all corners. Sits on a concrete foundation. Side gable roof is wrapped in a shallow pitched hipped addition with wide, bare, overhanging eaves. Main façade faces west and is hidden from street by brick wall extension with brick grill work. Veranda porch covers cantilevered concrete second floor, accessible by centrally place concrete stairs decorated with wrought iron railings. Apartment doors and windows are symmetrically set with nine bays on each level.

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.
Building is located near downtown Cape Girardeau, Missouri, Southeast Missouri State University, and the Post Office. The house faces north, to the east of the house is an alley and to the west is a lawn next to a parking lot. Behind the building is a utility shed. There is also a three sided, non-covered structure that might have been a carport located behind the building facing the alley.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.
One-story brick bungalow with bellcast side gable, central dormer, open verandah porch with three square brick columns, and central steps with half capped post on left. Central Craftsman door, mailbox and house number to left, and one three-over-one pane window on either side of the door. Dormer has two small craftsman windows and wood shingles.

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.
This Missouri German Vernacular home is sitting on the corner of Bellevue and N Frederick St. in Cape Girardeau, Missouri. It is located in a residential area, with a similar German vernacular house as its right side neighbor. There are two exterior sheds that sit right up against the back left of the house, the sheds are flush with the left elevation of the house. The one directly behind the house is constructed of brick; the last shed is of log.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.
The single story brick Missouri German vernacular house is constructed of brick and sits very close to the road. The building is side gabled and has a dental design in the brick along the roofline of the façade. There are three chimneys; two central end ones and one that is on a small extension to the back left of the house. There are six evenly spaced bays on the front façade, all with concrete sills above them; the two ends are windows, the next two in are doors, and the middle two are windows. There is a stone foundations with a concrete half wall and steps leading to the door on the façade.

A five car garage is located at the rear of the building with a concrete patio and awning connecting the structures. The immediate area is a mix of commercial and residential properties.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.
This one and one-half story building has undergone significant alterations to its architectural style. It may have been a Missouri German Vernacular style of stone now covered in stucco. The roof is side gabled with undetermined roofing material; possibly clay or metal. The front elevation is an enclosed porch that projects from the irregular floor form with a hipped roof and constructed likely of wood. The original portion of the building has dental molding along the cornice line.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.
The simple one story building sits in the semi residential area that is between Broadway and the university near the downtown region of Cape Girardeau, Missouri. The house is located on an essentially bare lot save for the chain link fence around the side and backyard that connects to the building at the east and west elevations. There is a concrete path with two stairs that leads from the sidewalk to the front porch.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.
The house is a simple one story brick building and has a dental design in the brick along the roofline of the façade. The house has a side gabled roof with a centered left end chimney. There is three evenly spaced bays on the front facade, a central door and two windows, one located to either side of the door. The two front windows have concrete sills above them, where as the side windows are arched. There is a concrete porch that has four short concrete pillars; the two center ones are the base of the portico which has double columns.

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.
This single story house is located on N Frederick St. between Broadway and the post office in Cape Girardeau, MO. The house sits very close to the road but much higher than the road, so it is difficult to see the house from the street. There are stairs to the left of the house that lead up to the gallery porch.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.
This single story house has distinctive features of a Missouri German Vernacular house, because of the single story, having two doors, and sitting almost right along the road. The roof is side gabled which extends past the façade to create a gallery, and that has a central right end chimney. There are six evenly spaced bays on the front façade; the outside two are windows with shutters, the next two in are doors, and the middle two are windows. The doors have been replaced with 15 light doors.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.

The building is located in Cape Girardeau, MO, near the university campus in an older, mostly residential neighborhood. It sits on a large lot on the corner of Fredrick and Bellevue Streets, with parking on three sides and a gravel alley running along the east side (rear) of the lot. The larger parking lot on the south side of the building is for mail trucks and other government vehicles, while the smaller lot on the north is for customers. Employees park in the rear of the building by the alley. The building faces west and is flanked on the north by a small, privately owned business building. Across Fredrick Street are four modern style apartment complexes.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.

This modern style, brick building is one story tall with a flat, tar and gravel roof. The façade has eight bays in a zigzag pattern with large windows oriented toward the north-west corner of the building; and a ninth bay made up of a concrete addition on the south end. There are two public entrances, one in the first bay slightly hidden behind a wide, L-shaped pillar; and a smaller one in the fourth bay. A projecting roof line along this part of the building provides shade. The south elevation has a loading dock that runs the entire length of the building, while the north and east elevations are plain except for a series of windows.

38. (cont.) History and significance.

The United States Post Office, formerly located at 339 Broadway, moved to 320 N. Fredrick St. upon the completion of the new building.

Other:
The building is located in Cape Girardeau, MO, near the university campus in an older, mostly residential neighborhood. It sits on a long, narrow lot between Fredrick Street and a gravel alley and faces west toward Fredrick Street. It is bordered on the south by the post office and to the north by a residential building. The area directly in front of the building is a small, paved parking lot, while the property behind the building is grassy, showing that it is not used.

This small, one-story, modern style building sits on a raised, poured concrete foundation and is constructed out of brick. It has a flat, tar and gravel roof with wide overhanging eaves. The façade has three bays, made up of a single-pane glass front door flanked by two large single-pane windows. It has a slab porch with two plain, brick pillars connecting it to a small slab overhang. The north and south elevations have newer vinyl, casement type windows. In the rear of the building is a back door and another slab porch.

This Craftsman Bungalow is located in an older, mostly residential neighborhood a little east of the Southeast Missouri State University campus. The building faces west on Fredrick Street and is bordered on the south by a small, privately owned business building, and on the north by another craftsman bungalow. With the exception of the post office just slightly to the south on Fredrick Street, the block is characterized by long, narrow lots with an abundance of trees.

This one-and-a-half-story craftsman bungalow is constructed out of brick over a wood frame on a raised concrete foundation. It has a front facing, double jerkin head (clipped) gable roof with asphalt shingles, wide overhanging eaves, and vinyl siding in the gable ends. The verandah style porch has a full brick pillar on each end, with half pillars on the inside ends by the stairs and intricate brick “lattice” work in between and connecting to the main building. The façade has three bays, with the door being in the center, flanked by two sets of twin one-over-one, double hung, sash windows. The windows are vinyl, so they are replacement windows. The storm door looks like it has been replaced as well.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.

This building is located on the corner of Fredrick and North Streets in Cape Girardeau, MO, a little east of the Southeast Missouri State University campus in an older, mostly residential neighborhood characterized by long, narrow lots and abundant trees.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.

This one-and-a-half-story craftsman bungalow is constructed out of brick over a wood frame on a poured concrete foundation. The side gabled, dual-pitched roof has asphalt shingles, wide overhanging eaves with wooden brackets underneath, and a large central gable dormer with three windows and vinyl siding. The gable ends have a stucco finish. A tall, exterior brick chimney extends through the roofline on the north elevation. The open verandah porch extends the full width of the façade and has two full height brick pillars on the outsides, and one half pillar on one side of the stairs, which are offset to the right. Brick “lattice” work wraps around the porch. The façade has two bays, with the front door also offset to the right, and a large bay window on the left. There is also a bay window on the north elevation. The door has a large, single-pane window in it, and sidelights. All of the windows appear to be vinyl three-over-one double hung, sash windows, with the exception of the center part of the two bay windows, which have a four-over-one pattern.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.

Building is located in Cape Girardeau, MO near the Southeast Missouri State University campus and the United States Post Office. The building sits on a long, narrow lot facing west toward N. Middle Street. It is located in a residential area, characterized by an abundance of apartment buildings. An alley runs behind the property, providing access to the one outbuilding located on the rear of the lot. The outbuilding is a metal shed/garage with a gable roof.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.

This one-story, Cape Cod style building is constructed out of brick on a slab concrete foundation. The roof is fairly steeply pitched, with a side gable and asphalt shingles. The façade is comprised of three bays, with the recessed, arched door (with arched lintel) in the center, flanked by windows on either side. The windows, including the two on the north and south elevations and the back of the building, are vinyl one-over-one double hung sash windows. The building has a slab porch with wrought iron railings.

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.

Building is located in Cape Girardeau, Missouri near the Southeast Missouri State University campus and the United States Post Office in a residential neighborhood characterized by older homes and an abundance of apartment buildings. The building sits on a long, narrow lot facing west toward N. Middle Street. A gravel alley runs behind the property, and a parking lot sits across from that. The north side of the rear of the property is bordered by a gravel parking lot as well.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.

This one-story, brick building has a white stucco finish and sits on a concrete foundation. The Mission/Spanish Colonial Revival style building has a flat roof bordered with parapet walls with clay tiles along the tops. There are two entrances on the façade, with windows in between and on the sides. The plain wooden doors are slightly recessed and have awnings over the tops, while the windows have arched, brick lintels over them. Some of the windows are double hung, sash windows with a multi-pane over single pane pattern, while a few others appear to be casement type windows. All of the windows are wood, suggesting they are original. Quoining adorns the corners of the building, as well as the edges of the doors and windows. The right entrance has a stoop type porch, while the other has no porch at all. Small chimneys can barely be seen in the rear part of the building over the top of the parapet walls.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.

The building is located in Cape Girardeau, Missouri near the Southeast Missouri State University campus and the United States Post Office. The neighborhood is an older neighborhood characterized by an abundance of apartment buildings. The building faces west and is situated on a corner lot at the intersection of N. Middle and Bellevue Streets.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.

This two-story, Colonial Revival building is constructed out of brick on a concrete foundation. The low-pitched, hipped roof has asphalt shingles, wide overhanging eaves with brackets underneath, and a shed dormer on the southern elevation. The first floor of the facade has three bays, with the front door (with transom) in the center, flanked by a window on the left side and a fake door (which was put in place of a window) on the right. The window on the right is probably a replacement as well, having only the top half as a window. It looks like both were originally designed to be windows that extended all the way to the base of the building. Most of the windows are vinyl double hung, sash windows with a multi-pane over multi-pane design. Some windows on the southern elevation have been bricked in as well. Other architectural features include a tall chimney in the rear, right corner of the building, an extended car port on the southern elevation, quoining on the corners of the building, and a set of wrought iron stairs on the southern elevation that lead to a door on the second floor.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.

The building is located in Cape Girardeau, Missouri near the Southeast Missouri State University campus and the United States Post Office. The setting is an older, residential neighborhood, characterized by a mixture of single and multi-dwelling houses, long narrow lots, and an abundance of trees. The home faces north toward North Street, and a gravel alley runs parallel to the property on the east side.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.

This one and a half story, Cape Cod style building is constructed out of wood frame with a stucco finish on a slab concrete foundation. An addition in the rear of the building is finished in vinyl siding rather than stucco. The house has a clipped, side gable roof covered in asphalt shingles and an arch over the doorway. The façade has three bays, with the door and stoop porch being in the center and flanked by two sets of double windows. Almost all of the windows are one-over-one double hung sash windows made of vinyl, suggesting that they have been replaced. There are two chimneys, one offset left on the exterior and the other on the rear slope.

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.

Building is located in Cape Girardeau, Missouri near the Southeast Missouri State University campus and the United States Post Office is an older, mostly residential neighborhood characterized by long, narrow lots and an abundance of trees. The building faces north on North Street.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.

This one-story, cape cod style building is constructed with a wood frame on a concrete slab foundation. Tax records suggest that the walls were once stuccoed but are now covered in vinyl siding. The building has a double, side gabled roof with a front cross gable with wide, overhanging eaves and asphalt shingles. The roof over the front porch extends past the porch on the right to form a carport. The right side of the building has one protruding bay. The door and windows have been replaced by vinyl ones, and most of the windows are single-pane over single-pane double hung windows. The building has an open front porch with wrought iron railings that look like they were also replaced at some point.

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.
The law office sits near the corner of North Sprigg and Broadway in Cape Girardeau, Missouri. The area is a partly residential area between Broadway and the university. The building sits very close to the road, with just a sidewalk in between. The rest of the plot is parking lot.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.
The law office is a single story rectangular building that resembles the ranch style with the windows of the building being pushed up to the roof line. The roof is side gabled and medium pitched. There are five bays on the front façade of the building; a centrally located door and two windows on either side of it. The door is set back into the building forming an umbrage, which has siding. The rest of the building is clad in brick and there are shutters on the sides of the windows. There is a brick flower bed that runs along the base of the façade which has a split in the middle for stairs that lead to the door.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

26. (cont.) Description of environment and outbuildings.
The Little Hopper Daycare Center is located in a residential area between Broadway and Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau, Missouri. At the right side of the building there is a chain link fence that encloses the yard where the play equipment is set up.

28. (cont.) Further description of important architectural features.
The daycare center is a single story rectangular building that resembles the ranch style with the windows of the building being pushed up to the roof line. The roof is side gabled and medium pitched with vinyl siding in the gable ends. There are five bays on the front façade of the building; a centrally located door and two windows on either side of it. The door is set back into the building forming an umbrage, which has siding. The rest of the building is clad in brick and there are shutters on the sides of the windows.
