Many businesses occupied the building in ensuring years. The Elite Theater was on the north half of the ground floor in the early 1900's and a bank had the south half. Upstairs, offices were occupied by Dr. Sawyer, a dentist, Dr. Propst, an osteopath, Skinner & Allen, Insurance and others. During the pre-World War I days, there was a barbershop in the basement.

The P.M. Place, 5 and 10 cent store leased the building following World War I and remained there until building new facilities in the 1970's. The Masonic lodge sold the building to Place and Place sold it to Central Programs in 1978. Central Programs is operated by Harold FitzGerald.

History and Significance

This is the site of Brown’s Ford, and later a dam and ice house were located here. For many years Bethany received its ice by horse drawn wagons. At one time there were two ice houses to provide the city with ice. But with the discovery of ice manufacturing, a plant was established in Bethany and the ice houses faded away. (see appendix)

At one time there was a rock dam located here. The water filtered through two brick walls, this purified water was then used by the city. By 1955, the creek above the dam was filled with soil that was washed from the unterraced fields. At this time a city lake was built. At least part of the dam was destroyed.

The bridge here, known as the Canning Factory Bridge was built 1883-1887 by the Dilltine bridge Company. Horse traders in their covered wagons would camp on the high east bank and then ford the creek and enter Bethany via the Canning Factory Bridge with their stock to trade. Many interesting trades and bets were made on these days.

The original architectural details have been covered with the addition of the metal siding.

This is the oldest standing house in Grant Township. The north section was built in 1870-1871, with pine lumber hauled from St. Joseph with a team of oxen. The southern section was built in 1873 with lumber hauled from Chillicothe.

The house is in a rural area with numerous farm buildings on the property.

The second level has an extension built on the west half and vertically extends to the bottom of the third level.

43. History and Significance

   In 1854, Peter Cain saw a need for a grist mill on the Thompson Fork of the Grand River. In 1855, with the help of his partners Isaac Waldrop and Henry Kennedy, the mill was completed. Cain came from Illinois to Missouri in 1836. Cain’s mill was the first manufacturing enterprise in the eastern part of Harrison County. (See appendix)

For those customers who had to travel a distance and wait to get their grinding done, Cain had a sleeping and cooking apartment near the mill. Northeast of the mill, Cain operated a small general store.

In 1855, the town of Cainesville was plotted. The town was named in honor of Peter Cain.

The present mill, which is now a hardware warehouse operated by Gene Brejnik, was built after an early mill was destroyed by a fire in 1927. John Weldon, now deceased, was the owner at the time. A previous fire destroyed the mill in 1902. Between the years of 1869 and 1876, the mill was changed from water power to steam power. In 1913, the mill was sold to John A. and C.B. Weldon for $20,000. It is said the volume of business is what attributed to the high cost of the mill. Other owners include Cleo Phillips and Warren Hickman. When the mill was operated by Cleo Phillips and his father, Clifford, a breakfast cereal was made from a fine by-product of the corn meal. Corn meal was still being ground until 1973, when H.G. Brejnik bought the mill from Edgar Nichols.

There are fireplaces at each end of the house. For years there was only one room downstairs and one room upstairs. The walls are two feet thick and the door sills are three feet thick. The porch was added on the south facade.

The stones used in the construction of the house was obtained from the farm. Finishing lumber was hauled from Princeton Missouri. The house was started before the Civil War, but wasn’t finished until after the war. Thomas Grant and Sons were the builders. This house is the oldest house in Marion Township.

The house is in a rural area with farm land surrounding the property.

A balcony over the front porch with carpenter trimmed valance and balustrades on the south facade is the outstanding architectural feature on this house.

Considered by the local people to be one of the oldest houses in Marion Township.

The house is in a rural area with numerous farm buildings on the property.

See appendix
Interview with Mrs. Virgie Baker; Leo Redinger; Elmer Rinehart
#45 Appendix

There are indications that a porch was removed from the southwest first floor. The present porch is an alteration from the original. The exterior doors on the south facade have been changed into windows. The one story room on the east of the house is probably the oldest section of the house, which dates from 1856.

43. History and Significance
The land was bought in 1856 by Benjamin Slatten who emigrated from McLean County, Illinois, with his wife and son. The native prairie remained on the land until five years ago when the present owners plowed up 800 acres. The land was long used to raise Hereford cattle

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings
There is a walnut framed "pin" barn, a well house and scale house is disrepair, along with other farm buildings. The house is located in a rural area of the county.

two surviving sons of his master. The remainder of the estate was divided equally between Oland Church LDS and Otterbein, United Brethren. The land was valued at $75.00 an acre and the estate appraised at $8,200. Henry was a faithful member of the Oland Church and attended regularly. His funeral was held there and well attended as a well-loved member of the community. He was buried in the Eagleville Cemetery.

Indian Story
—By Mrs. Etta Johnson

Hugh Ross and wife, Catherine (Katy) Carter Ross lived all their life on their original farm near New Hampton. This farm home was on the old Eagleville-St. Joseph trail. Many Indians passed on this trail. One day the Indians entered the Ross home while Katy Ross and one baby were alone. Katy hid, but did not have time to get her baby from the other room. The Indians were in the house hunting for her, and were heard to say, “We will take the calf (baby) and the old cow will come.” Planning to kidnap them, when Hugh Ross returned home, saving them. There were no door knobs on doors then, only latchstrings.

History and Significance

This is the only building in existence from the early days of New Hampton. This hotel was kept busy accommodating "drummers" who came by train. This building was built by Dr. A.M. Willley and his wife, Kate, as a residence and hotel in the mid-1880's. After they retired, it became the "Central" with a telephone switchboard. Later it was sold to W. Baker and again became a hotel and residence.

Description of Environment and Outbuildings

The house is in a residential area of a small rural community.

Further Description of Important Features

There has been a shed dormer added on the west facade. The porch columns are Doric.

Sources of Information

See appendix
#45 Appendix

This building has served as a meeting place for numerous organizations. It was also used by Charles L. Cover and Sister Nettie Cover for printing their newspaper, The New Hampton Herald, from mid-1897 to the early 1900's. The back room was a blacksmith shop at one time. This is one of the few boomtown buildings in Harrison County.

This building is in a residential area of a small rural community.

See appendix.
There are patterned shingles in the gable ends. The porches have carpenter trimmed columns and valances. Colored glass exists in part of the windows. Numerous additions have been added on the north and east.

This is one of the older homes in New Hampton.

The house is in a residential area of a small rural community.

See appendix

42. Further Description of Important Features

The porch on the southwest corner is an addition. The small gable roof over the east facade door is obviously an addition.

43. History and Significance

This house is comprised of two homes that were moved to this location in 1882, and put together. At that time it was open pasture just south of the original plat of New Hampton.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings

This home is located in a residential area of a small rural community.

The house is vacant.
It is significant for historical rather than architectural reasons.

Tom Chipp and family were very early settlers in the area, coming into the area in the 1850's. This house is now in very poor condition and has been vacant since the late 1960's.

The house is in a rural area with numerous farm buildings on the property.

42. Further Description of Important Features

This house has had many additions over the years, window change and roof lines are evidence of these changes. The porch on the west facade has rectangular columns and sits on brick pedestals. The cave and cellar next to the house are of particular interest.

43. History and Significance

The older part of the house was moved to this location by Mrs. Daily's grandfather over 100 years ago. The Daily's improved the property over the years. Lee Daily was an active community leader, being director of the First State Bank of New Hampton for a number of years before his death. He was a son of a former Harrison County sheriff Fred Daily.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings

The house is in a rural area with numerous farm buildings on the property.

There are brackets at the eave, a two story porch at the southeast corner with carpenter trim valance, balustrades and columns and a two story bay on the south facade. The two rooms on the east first floor level are additions to the house.

Nathaniel Funk came to Harrison County in 1865 and located ½ mile east of present New Hampton. He built a home sometime between 1865 and 1868. When he became the first postmaster, he called the post office Sampson Creek, which was located at his home. (see appendix)

The house is in a rural area with numerous farm buildings on the property.

Following from Funk Family History.

In 1719, Bishop Henry Funk emigrated to America from Holland or Germany and located in Montgomery County, Pennsylvania. He was elected the first Mennonite Minister at Franconia. He died in 1760. While in Montgomery County Bishop married and had a son, Henry. In 1786 this Henry Funk moved to Harrisburg, Virginia, Henry married Barbara Showalter. Henry moved the family to Rockingham, Virginia and then to Henry County. His ninth child, John Funk was a carpenter and farmer. John married Mary Rader and died in 1842.

John's son, Martin Funk, was born in Virginia December 25, 1800, and married Elizabeth Meliza in Rockingham County, Virginia. Elizabeth was born September 18, 1802. Martin and Elizabeth moved from Virginia to Ohio about 1827, and then about 1842 they moved to Henry County, Indiana. Between 1854 and 1865, they and their eight children moved to Missouri and settled near New Hampton. Martin died here in June, 1881. His wife, Elizabeth, died at the home of her daughter Susanne Funk Clevenger in Harrison County, on June 8, 1895.

Martin's first son was Nathaniel, he was born in Virginia on August 25, 1826. He married twice, the first time to Eliza Jane Courtney in Henry County, Indiana. She died on the farm where they settled in 1865. Four of their children died of diphtheria in 1862. Nathaniel's second wife was a cousin to Eliza Jane. She had three sons by Nathaniel, Riley, Gillie and Samuel. She died on the homestead in 1892. Nathaniel died on the farm where he settled, December 23, 1909.

Joseph Funk was the first son of Nathaniel Funk. He was born in Henry County, Indiana July 30, 1855 and died at home east of New Hampton on March 28, 1927. He was married to Margaret Ann Foster and she died January 8, 1948. Joseph and Margaret made many improvements on the farm east of New Hampton, they put up all the buildings that still stand as evidence of their labor, interest and family pride. All of the family are deceased except Anna Funk Pierce who owns the old homestead.

Most of the architectural details have been covered up by the addition of the metal siding. The porch has an eyebrow of roof in the gable end and Doric Columns.

J.W. Bender settled on this land in 1865 and the land has remained in the family since that date. The present owner, Maxine Smith is Bender's granddaughter. Local folklore states that the Jesse James gang stopped here for dinner after they robbed the Gallatin bank.

The house is in a rural area with numerous farm buildings on the property.

This is an object nomination, therefore no features are described. It is significant for historical rather than architectural reasons.

This trestle has stood almost for a hundred years. The final negotiations were made between E.L. Friend and the railroad company in 1880. The first train ran on the completed track in November, 1882, from Albany to New Hampton. (See appendix)

The trestle crosses a small creek and is in a rural area.
With the coming of the railroad New Hampton grew into a booming shipping town. By the 1890's, 300 cars were sent by the C.B. & Q to New Hampton yearly to ship livestock and produce. These picturesque tressels have been the subject of numerous artists sketches.

There is a pressed cement logo in the parapet; white bricks in the north facade in the shape of a cross and cement lintels above the windows on the second floor.

43. History and Significance

The building was built in 1912 as an Opera House. Until movies became popular, plays were performed here. Afterwards, movies were shown here until the 1950's. Occasionally radio entertainers performed here until the late 1940's. The building served as a basketball court before there was a high school gym. Until 1968, this was the polling place also.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings

The building is in the downtown area of a small farming community.

This structure is significant for historical rather than architectural reasons.

This is the homestead of the first settler in White Oak Township. J.W. Virden settled here in 1836, and built a two story log cabin which was later covered with siding. It had stained glass windows and was a beautiful home. The home has been unoccupied for over twenty years and is in very bad condition. (see appendix)

The building is in a wooded area in a field.
The owner is Mrs. Virden Wilson, wife of Dr. Wilson of Winston and is a direct descendant of J.W. Virden. The Harrison County Bicentennial History notes that this farm has been continually in the hands of the Virden family. The home passed from John Wyatt Virden to Mrs. Virden Wilson and to Miss Amy Kincard, a granddaughter.

Appendix

The new asbestos siding hides most of the architectural details. There is a bell shaped roof over the wall dormer on the west facade. The carpenter trim valance is still on the porch on the west facade. The additions were added at different times.

The house was built by T.J. Melton. Joseph Funk moved the house to this location from a site further south on the same property. The house dates to the 1870's.

The house is located in a rural area, there are numerous farm buildings on the property.

42. Further Description of Important Features
Most of the architectural details have been covered by the addition of the asbestos siding. The gable ends are very steep giving the house a Gothic appearance, but it lacks the trim details.

43. History and Significance
Funks were early settlers in the area. This farm has been in the family since 1864.

44. Description of Environment and Outbuildings
The house is in a rural area with numerous farm buildings on the property.
